The Weare Commission Company, of Chicago, says:
The bears have gone out looking for good crop prospects, and, where they have seen poor prospects, they say nothing about it. At the same time it is only wise to acknowledge that the market is entirely dependent on confirmation of damage to advance it, as really there is nothing clee to bring about an advance except proof of deteriorated winter wheat crop. If we had a general speculative trade, with some decent outside support, there would be a recognition at once of the fairly strong position wheat is in in spite of foreign indifference, primarily induced, we believe, by the fact that we have published to the world paying any attention whalever to the fact that such reserves have been practically cleaned up, that farmers own but an average stock at present, and were never in better position to hold it.

Plenty of Strawberries.

H. R. Chase, a produce dealer of Cedar Rapids, Ia., has been down in Arkansas, and stopped off here yesterday on his way back home. He says that the outlook for a big strawberry crop is favorable. The Arkansas Valley Fruit Growers' Union, which consists of the old Van Buren Horticultural Association, and includes growers from about fifteen other towns in the valley, estimates their output to be 400 to 500 carloads of strawberries. The season is two or three weeks late and shipments will not be made before the middle of May.

There are a few isolated cases where parties had bought Mexican cows, or cattle from below the Panhandle, where the losses are heavy and will run from $5$ to $60$ per cent, but the losses among native cattle will not exceed 5 per cent to date. I know men here who have from $20$ to 700 head of native cattle and have not lost a single one. I also know of one man who had about 180 head of Mexican cows. He has skinned over 100 of them to date. Cattle sales scarcely worth mentioning. Charles Caple sold to Smith Guest fifteen good native coming 2-year-old heiters at
